Press Clippings.

That old adage, "Whistling girls and crowing hens always come to some bad end," must be relegated to oblivion, for whistling has come into fashion, and it would be cruelty to prophesy calamity to all girls now striving to attain proficiency in the art. Some girls take as naturally as boys to whistling, while others have to cultivate it, and there are still others whose lips seem to refuse to pucker up in the fashion necessary for proper results. Boisterous whistling is not in vogue, but sweet, bird-like rendering of melodic trills and medleys which artistically done, is an attractive, clever accomplishment.

Andrew Carnegie tells a good story: "I canna' leave ye thus, Nancy," a good old Scotchman wailed. "Ye're too auld to work, an' ye couldna' live in the almshouse. Gin I die, ye maun marry anither man, wholl keep ye in comfort in yer auld age." "Nay, nay, Andy," answered the good spouse, "I couldna' wed anither man for what wad I do wi' twa husbunds in Heaven?" Andy pondered over this, but suddenly his face brightened. "I ha'e it, Nancy!" "Ye ken wed auld John Clemmens. He's a kind man but he is na' a member of the kirk. He likes ye, Nancy, an' gin ye'll marry him, 'twill be all the same in Heaven. John's na' a Christian, and he's na likely to get there."

An example of Edward Everett Hale's light-heartedness is told in Woman's Home Companion for August. One day when he was about eighty years old he and I boarded a surface-car in New York. The car was crowded but a lad promptly arose and gave him his seat. "Thank you, my boy," said Hale, with great heartiness. "I'll do as much for you some day when you are eighty—if I'm around then."

Worth County Times: Noel Richmond, who lives near Denver, this county, the other week sold the apples in his orchard to a packer for $900. They are winter apples and the buyer picks and barrels them himself. That is like getting money from your wife's folks.

Trenton News: Dr. Benton pastor of the Baptist church, served a notice on parishioners last night at the church meeting that card playing, dancing and other popular evils were forever stricken from the list of "Innocent Amusements" so far as he was concerned and that the membership of the Baptist church who had formerly indulged in these amusements must take due notice and govern themselves accordingly.

We are not sorry when times are hard. The women then cook noodles with the chicken to make the chicken go around, make good gravy to save the meat; serve apple pie often than plum pudding; do away with servant girls who can't cook, and display their own skill; stay at home more with the children because they have no fine clothes to wear gadding; try their hand at nice old fashioned ginger bread, instead of angels food; the general health is better and the people who would otherwise come and visit a month stay at home. There is nothing so terrible about hard times if a clever woman manages the house.—Ex.

Kirksville Journal: A large number of people who were at the Wash depot yesterday morning when the 8.41 passenger train departed witnessed a pathetic scene they will not soon forget. A man and wife and three little boys, age eight, six and four years, were at the train. The parents have been separated for some time and the children are in the custody of the father. The mother, who resides in Iowa had been here to visit the children and was leaving for home. When the children realized that their mother was leaving they were frantic. When she attempted to board the train they clung to her with almost superhuman strength and their pitiful wails could be heard for several blocks. The mother made several attempts to go on the train and each time was dragged from the train by her frantic children. All efforts of the father to quiet them were fruitless and he finally called bystanders to assist him in holding them until the mother could get on the train. The people that witnessed the struggle that followed will long remember the pitiful scene and the heart-broken cries of the innocent victims of this domestic tragedy.

A deplorable shooting occurred near Penleton, Mo., recently when Carl M. Sachs was shot and killed by a neighbor, Cleve Remscheider, in a partition fence quarrel. Sachs was coming towards Remscheider with a shotgun when the latter shot without warning with the result stated.

"Man comes into this world without his consent and leaves against his will. During his stay on earth his life is spent in one continuous round of contraries and misunderstandings. In his infancy he is an angel; in his boyhood he is a devil; in his manhood he is everything from a lizard up; in his duties he is a fool; if he has no family he is committing race suicide; if he raises a family he's a chump; if he raises a cheek he is a thief, and then the law raises Cain with him; if he is a poor man, he is a poor manager and has no sense; if he is rich he is dishonest; but considered smart; if he is in politics he is a grafter and a crook; if he is out of politics you can't place him, as he is an undesirable citizen if he goes to church he is a hypocrite; if he stays away from church he is a sinner; if he donates to foreign missions he does it for show; if he doesn't, he is stingy and a tightwad." When he first comes into the world, everybody wants to kiss him—before he goes out they want to kick him. If he dies young there was a great future before him; if he lives to ripe old age, he is in the way, only living to save funeral expenses." "Life is a funny proposition after all"—Ex.
